

RESTAURANTS (2018/19 update)

In the village

From Easter to September and always at week-ends booking is recommended.

In order of proximity to the house:

The Napoleon Inn

One of Cornwall's oldest pubs, the Napoleon serves traditional British pub food. Turn right out of the house and then right into Potter's Lane. At the end of the road, turn left and the pub is on the right past the garage. About 600 metres in total – an easy 10 min walk. Usually have local folk singers on Tuesday evening and live music on Friday evenings.

The Wellington Hotel

The 'Wellie' serves very good quality pub food in the bar. It offers a more formal dining experience in the 2AA rosette Waterloo restaurant upstairs using locally sourced produce where possible. There is a good Folk evening in the bar on Wednesdays from 9pm.

The Wellington is situated near the harbour – about a ten-minute walk down the hill. If you are walking, turn right out of the house and go to the end of the road, then turn left and then immediately right and then immediately left down Old Road. The Wellington is at the bottom on the right.

The Riverside

Another popular spot, the Riverside has an a la carte menu in the evenings and also a Sunday lunchtime carvery. Situated by the main bridge, not far past the Wellington.

The Cobweb Inn

Near the Riverside, this is a typical English pub popular with locals. It serves food in the bar and in a small restaurant upstairs – the bar has a better atmosphere. Local bands usually play on Saturday nights.
